

Waali Dawud Abdullah, United Nation Builders

Waali Dawud Abdullah was born on December 24th, 1971 in a small town called Bennettsville, SC. He's the oldest of 4 siblings to a single parent mother who raised them well and their father he visited on weekends and during summer breaks. He was of the first graduating class from Marlboro County High School, 'class of 90'. Waali's high school sweetheart gave birth to his first born son at the age of 17. After graduating high school, Waali joined the military as an administrative specialist and was stationed at Fort Hood, Texas. Not long after, he sent for both his son and his sons' mother and married his high school sweetheart who over the years gave birth to 7 handsome boys and 5 beautiful girls in which made him very grateful. He asked out of the military after 2 short years when he began to understand that this was not the place for him or his kind. Shortly after getting out of the military he was invited to Muhammad's Temple of Islam in San Antonio Texas where he and his family immediately accepted the truth and he join the ranks of the Fruit of Islam. He's held position in the Temple as secretary and currently as minister. This is his inspiration behind the works of the United Nation Builders Inc., and he continues to soldier for Freedom, Justice, Equality and Islam at the present time.

A dark blue arrow pointing to the right, located at the bottom right corner of the page.